About yourself?

About those you served (or about the service rendered, if you didn't work with people)?

4. Has this outreach helped you grow, and if so, how?

5. Did this service challenge you, and if so, how? Was there anything you struggled with in this project?

6. Which of your skills were useful in your service?

7. Are there other skills, which if more developed, would have been helpful in performing this service?

8. Is there anything you see differently now than you did before? (about the people you worked with or the issues you were dealing with.)

9. If you worked with people, how would you describe your relationships with the people you served?

10. Have you seen God in the work you did or in the people you met? If so, describe when this happened. Has your faith changed, or even been challenged, as a result of your experience? If so, how?

REFLECTION - MY JUSTICE EFFORTS THROUGH A WEBSITE

1. What justice issue did you work on?
2. What action did you take? (Whom did you contact, what was your message?)
3. What did you hope to accomplish?
4. Was this your first attempt to work for justice? If so, discuss what you learned about working on an issue and how you feel about your efforts? If not, mention what issues you advocated for before and how you did that.

5. In a paragraph or two, discuss in detail the background of the issue or injustice you addressed. (e.g. If your issue was debt forgiveness for poor countries, discuss poor country debt and the injustice around it. If your issue was fair trade, discuss what makes trade unfair or fair, and how fair trade can be achieved. Etc.)

6. If you worked through an organization and its website:

- Name the organization
- Describe its mission and goals.
